Hotel Overview

725 Buenos Aires Hotel was formerly known as the Hotel Continental. The hotel was built in 1927 by Alejandro Bustillo, with a distinguished French style that became a symbol of Buenos Aires' architecture.

Today the Hotel Continental is reborn under a new name of 725 Buenos Aires and has a modern and contemporary style designed by the Firm Urgell-Penedo-Urgell.

Design, comfort and space are the main features of the guest rooms. The fine dining restaurant serves Gourmet Food with a difference. At the Bistro Bar, you will find a lively and casual atmosphere with great music, ideal for a city that doesn't sleep.

LOCATION

725 Buenos Aires Hotel is located at Diagonal Street which joins the Obelisk with Plaza de Mayo, forming a magnificent corner imparting beauty to one of the most visited capitals of the world.

The Metropolitan Cathedral (Catedral Metropolitana) is also around the corner and was completed in the 1820s. The neoclassical facade of Buenos Aires most important Cathedral makes for an odd entrance into the splendid Baroque interior, with a Rococo style altar and contains the mausoleum of General San Martin. Outside, an eternal flame burns in his honor.

This high-rise hotel in the heart of Buenos Aires is located less than a km (one-half mile) from Recoleta, the Colón Theatre opera house, and the Galerías Pacífico Shopping Center

From Aeroparque Jorge Newbery (AEP)/ Domestic Airport: Located 3 km/ 2 miles from city centre.
